

9 Men Die As Bomber Is Wrecked

Two Officers and Seven Enlisted Men Are Victims of Colorado Tragedy
Are Blown to Bits
Parts of Bodies Found Hundreds of Feet From Wreck

Denver, Aug. 23 (AP)—Two officers and seven enlisted men were killed in the crash of an Army bombing plane (a two-motored B-18 Douglas) on a bombing range 43 miles east of Denver last night. Flares dropped early today from a searching ship located the wreckage after the bomber, from Denver's Lowry Field, had failed to return from a routine bombing practice assignment.

A severe electrical storm occurred east and southeast of the city last night. Scene of the crash, southeast of Watkins, Colo., is a flat, dry prairie country created by gullies formed by swift runoff of occasionally heavy rains. A few abandoned ranch houses dot the area.

Sister Ship Returns
The plane and another ship took off on the assignment at 7 p. m. Mountain time last night, the accompanying ship returning to Lowry Field four hours later.

The dead: 2nd Lieut. Wilbur A. Champagne, Denver, pilot.
2nd Lieut. Robert P. Schmidtchen, Air Corps Reserve, Valley Stream, Long Island, N. Y., co-pilot.

Staff Sergeant William McDermann, Lebanon, Tenn.
Staff Sergeant Clarence L. Hobbs, Irving, Tex.
Sergeant Truman Fraser, McHenry, Ark.

Sergeant Roy C. Adkins, Switz City, Ind.
Private Claud E. Hutchinson, Denver.

Private Charles E. Kelly, Texarkana, Ark., radio operator.
Private Welden Bryson, Deport, Tex.

All of the occupants had been blown to bits by the explosion. Parts of bodies were found hundreds of feet from wreckage of the bomber.

Theory of Crash
Investigation officers theorized the accident occurred about 8 p. m. last night during a severe hail and electrical storm. They had not determined whether a lightning bolt struck the plane in mid-air, or whether its bombs exploded after it crashed.

The plane was demolished, its motors and parts widely scattered. Field officers could not tell immediately how many bombs the plane had carried on its bombing mission, or how many had been dropped by it before the crash.

Officers said the crew may have decided to climb into lightning-ridden clouds to avoid a possible collision of planes. They estimated it reached an altitude of 2,000 feet before disaster overtook it.

Federal Agents Seize 100-Gallon Still Here
Federal agents Thursday afternoon seized a 100-gallon still at the Cobblestone Inn on the South Boulevard of the Ashokan reservoir, and arrested Noble Garrison. Garrison was arraigned this afternoon before U. S. Commissioner Charles de la Vergne and held under $500 bond for appearance before the federal grand jury.

Ship Due Wednesday
Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—The American Legion U. S. army transport now apparently out of danger in its refugee-carrying voyage, is expected in New York next Wednesday. The tentative arrival time was announced at the state department, which had been concerned about a German disclaimer of responsibility for the safety of the ship in waters it now has traversed.

Treasury Receipts
Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—The position of the treasury August 21: Receipts, $10,029,578.84; expenditures, $27,202,799.69; net balance, $2,573,820.057.01; working balance included $1,841,365,749.34; customs receipts for month, $15,765,735.19; receipts for fiscal year (July 1), $690,972,554.68; expenditures, $1,314,596,402.17; excess of expenditures, $623,623,847.49; gross debt, $43,883,027,833.35; increase over previous day, $8,855,828.64; gold assets, $20,800,413,814.17.

Dies of Skull Fracture
His head caught in the mechanical door of a mixing machine, Earl W. Sykes, Jr., 21, of Modena, died of a fractured skull in the Williams Bakery plant in Newburgh on Thursday. The young man had been employed at the bakery for less than four weeks. It was stated at the bakery that the youth had gone into the mixing room to finish cleaning the big dough mixing machine. Sykes was found with his head caught in the door of the machine and the power still on.

Willkie Plans to Get Southern Vote; F.D.R. To Visit T.V.A. Sept. 2

Upstate College Presidents Drop F.D.R. for Willkie

Drs. Fox and Cowley Say They See Real Danger in 'Trust Papa' Way of Government

Schenectady, Aug. 23 (Special)—Presidents of two of the country's oldest colleges have written a joint letter to Wendell L. Willkie telling him they will now give "enthusiastic support" to his candidacy for president of the United States although both had voted for Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932 and again in 1936.

President Dixon Ryan Fox of Union College and President William H. Cowley of Hamilton College, declared that Mr. Willkie's acceptance speech last Saturday finally convinced them that there was available "a safer and better balanced horse" and so they do "not fear changing horses in the middle of a stream."

Among the reasons the historians, Dr. Fox, and the psychologist, Dr. Cowley, gave for switching their support from Roosevelt to Willkie were: Against Roosevelt because his administration has not abated effectively the "friction" which a rapid succession of wide-sweeping reforms had generated inevitably making impossible "the reconciliation of private initiative with social justice . . . under the implication that any and all business success is in itself odious"; do not favor a third term because they do not believe in the "trust Papa" theory of government; and the "recent Democratic convention scandalously illustrated the startling dangers of political power too long retained."

Realistic Liberalism
They are for Willkie because in his acceptance address his "economic and social creed . . . seems to represent the realistic liberalism that ought properly to guide

Senate Group Asks Ban on Fund Bills

Committee to Offer Bill to Play Holes in Act Against Abuses

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—Bipartisan recommendations were advanced today in the Senate campaign expenditures committee for a ban on the solicitation of political contributions from employees by their employers or business superiors.

Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa) said he was confident that the committee, which is charged with policing the coming election, would offer legislation to "try and plug up holes for abuses" in the present federal corrupt practices act.

Senator Reed (R-Kan.) sharply criticized employers or corporation executives who took up political collections among their workers but said that it was extremely difficult to frame legislation.

G. O. P. Nominee Will Travel 4,000 Miles in West; F. D. R. May Make Reply

U. S. Poll Shows Most Of Press Pro-Willkie

New York, Aug. 23 (AP)—Editor and Publisher today printed a national table of the political preferences of 1,030 daily newspapers in the United States which showed that 683 of them had declared for Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee. The canvass was as of August 21.

A condensed table of the '32, '36 and '40 preferences as compiled by the trade publication follows:

	Dem.	Rep.	None
1932	399	537	59
1936	356	623	52
1940	208	683	139

(By The Associated Press)

A state by state campaign for Wendell L. Willkie in the Democratic "solid south" was being blocked out today after the Republican presidential nominee approved a two-weeks' speaking tour of the western half of the country which will cover more than 4,000 miles.

Meanwhile in Washington it was announced that President Roosevelt's plans for a "non-political" trip south on Labor Day set capital politicians speculating today on what campaign significance the visit might incidentally develop.

Considerable interest centered on the fact that President Roosevelt would dedicate a Tennessee Valley Authority dam, because the occasion would afford him an opportunity to discuss the administration's policy on public power projects.

Such a discussion, it was pointed out, also would give the Chief Executive the opportunity to speak—if he wished—on the long conflict between the T.V.A. and his Republican opponent, Wendell Willkie, as president of Commonwealth and Southern Corp.

Conference Is Held
Behind Willkie's southern drive are leaders of an independent Democratic organization who conferred with him last night.

They reached no decision as to whether a new ticket should be put up in states where Democrats might not want to vote the Republican slate, but agreed that legal and practical political question would settle the situation in each case.

"This is a very aggressive movement," Willkie told reporters following a dinner meeting with John W. Hanes, former Roosevelt under-secretary of the treasury; Lewis Douglas, first budget director under the New Deal, and Dr. Alan Valentine, president of the University of Rochester.

The Republican nominee said he might make a major speech under the auspices of the Independent Democrats, whose leaders voiced belief they had a good chance of carrying Texas, Florida, Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee.

He made this disclosure three hours after he told a press conference about general plans for his first long stumping trip—beginning at Coffeyville, Kans., Sept. 1.

Roosevelt Declares He Is Absolutely Opposed to Draft Postponement as Delay to Entire U. S. Defense Program

Local Store Displays Recruiting Material

Those who pass through Wall street within the next few days might think that the L. S. Winne store is expecting an air raid, but upon close examination, one may see that it is merely an attractive patriotic display decorated by the American Legion and the local army recruiting office. This display is in conjunction with the current drive by the United States Army to gain recruits for service. On the left, Abram Relyea, store manager, is thanked by Sgt. Jules H. Eggers, district recruiting officer, for the use of the window as Herman DuBois, chairman of the American Legion Rally to be held at the Municipal Auditorium on September 11, looks on.

Japan Awaits 'Go' Signal to Expand In Southern Seas

Feeling Is That Japanese Will Not Act Until War Upon Great Britain Is at Its Climax

Hanoi, French Indo-China, Aug. 23 (AP)—Japan's avowed program of expansion in the South Seas is seen here as awaiting a "go" signal from Europe.

Businessmen and diplomats in the Netherlands East Indies and French Indo-China voice repeated belief Japan will take no direct action until Germany's assault upon Britain reaches its climax.

These sources contend Japan and Germany will arrange a partitioning in the Orient which will have to wait for preoccupation elsewhere of the western nations.

In contrast to the unanimity of this opinion regarding European prerequisites to Japanese action is the varying appraisal of the United States' role in the Orient.

Secretly, Indo-China has been trying to persuade United States airplane builders to turn over about 200 planes originally ordered for France, but most sources admit small hope of any American military intervention.

Nevertheless, the Indies particularly have taken comfort in the continued presence of the United States fleet in Hawaii.

Of the two areas, Indo-China is acknowledged to be far more susceptible of Japanese absorption because of her scanty troops, little equipment and a shortage of ammunition. Indo-China, in this strained atmosphere, is imposing air raid precaution blackout tests.

One of the most persistent reports in Hanoi is that before Marshal Petain's French government at Vichy obtains a formal treaty with Germany, a Nazi delegation, traveling by way of Soviet Russia and China, will inspect Indo-China to determine its worth.

Informed Hanoi sources reason that if such is the case, the envoys would advise Hitler Indo-China is too valuable to give to Japan.

Six Persons Are Killed As Nazis Bomb Britain

German Planes Raid London Suburbs but Not One Is Injured There; British Guns Drop Shells Upon Coast of France Today

(By The Associated Press)

Nazi warplanes dropped salvos of bombs on three densely-populated London suburbs today and inflicted a toll of six known killed in attacks of mounting violence elsewhere in England and Scotland.

London reported that British long-range guns fired "a few rounds across the channel" by way of retort to newly-disclosed German "Big Berthas" studding the French coast, which shelled British convoys yesterday in the Straits of Dover and rained cross-channel projectiles on Dover itself.

British military spokesmen discounted the Nazis' new mode of attack, declaring the big German cannon would not make Dover untenable from a military standpoint. Civilian residents of the channel "Hell's Corner" town began fleeing, however.

Heavy property damage was reported in the pre-dawn assault on the London area—the capital's (Continued on Page 14)

U. S. Will Hold Its Rail Wage Hearing

Wage-Hour Administrator Sets September 23; Will Affect 60,000 Persons

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—Col. Philip B. Fleming, wage-hour administrator, announced today a hearing September 23 on the railroad carrier industry committee recommendations for minimum wages which would increase the pay of more than 60,000 workers by about $7,180,000 a year.

A majority of the committee recommended that the hourly pay minima be 36 cents for trunk line railroads (those with operating income of $1,000,000 or more a year) and 33 cents for short line roads.

The trunk lines estimated that the proposal would cost an additional $6,903,609 annually. The short lines put their additional cost at $280,000.

No Competitive Advantage
The committee majority, comprising the four members representing the public and the four representing the employers, said that it believed that the minimum wages recommended were "the highest which will not substantially curtail employment in the industry and not give a competitive

Six Gunmen Miss $100,000 Letters in Mail Train Theft

Upper Manhattan Robbery 'Pulled' on Right Train but on Wrong Day, Officials Say

New York, Aug. 23 (AP)—Six gunmen, flourishing six-shooters and automatics like old western badmen, held up a passenger train in upper Manhattan early today, cowed its crew at muzzle point, handcuffed two postal clerks to an iron post and fled after carefully selecting only one pouch containing "mail for Yonkers."

The holdup consumed less than three minutes.

Federal and city officers expressed the belief that the gang sought payoffs aggregating $100,000 which customarily are sent by registered mail twice weekly from New York banks to Yonkers factories.

They added that the robbers had chosen the right train but the wrong day. Nothing of import— (Continued on Page 20)

General Drum Climaxes Maneuvers By Urging Immediate Draft Action

Canton, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP)—The appeal of Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum for conscripted troops and production of needed weapons by "national obligation" to prepare for "the threatened crisis," sounded a martial retreat today for 90,000 soldiers in the nation's largest war games.

Climaxing three weeks of maneuvers that ended with defeat of a make-believe invader by outnumbering defending forces, the first army's commander asserted in his critique of northern New York's mock combat:

"We are too few to meet the problems ahead and must demand that all citizens be called to serve with us in preparing for the threatened crisis."

"As for the production of weapons, the volunteer system must be replaced by national obligation system if we are to succeed."

Tells Press Conference Training Bill Must Be Decided Within Two Weeks

Makes Comparison

Says U. S. Needs Troops as Football Coach Needs Big Squad

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that he was personally and absolutely opposed to postponement of compulsory military training until next year.

The President told a press conference that new increments of man power were needed now to learn to use modern fighting equipment that already is on hand.

To put off actual drafting of men, he said, would delay the whole defense program a year or two.

Mr. Roosevelt said Congress had been considering the subject since June 20 and still was talking about it. If a bill should not be enacted in the next couple of weeks, he added, there was going to be real delay in the defense program.

Like Football Squad

Likening this program to the consistently winning Notre Dame football teams under the late Knute Rockne, the President asserted that if Rockne had started a season with only nine prospective players instead of 44 men—or four full teams—he would not have had a winning team.

If the United States is invaded it wants to win, the Chief Executive said, adding that it was better to have a good team than none at all.

Pending in the Senate as the President spoke was an amendment proposed to the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill by Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) which would delay actual selection of men for active military service until January 1, while a further trial was given for the volunteer system.

Mr. Roosevelt expressed himself as emphatically opposed to such delay. Shortly before Senator Glass (D-Va.) had joined the ranks of conscription advocates opposing the Maloney amendment.

"I think we have postponed getting ready for years," Glass told reporters, "and I am not in favor of postponing action for another day."

Manpower Is Essential

The President said the government had been concentrating on letting orders for new equipment and much of it was to be delivered this fall and next spring.

The equipment without man power is of no use, he declared.

The present strength of the army and National Guard, the President continued, was around 400,000 men, and the aim was to raise this to 1,200,000 a year from this fall.

There was no news, he told reporters, on the negotiations with Britain on leasing by the United States of some of the British possessions in this hemisphere for naval bases.

There also was nothing to be said, he added, on the question of furnishing Britain with some of our over-age destroyers.

Mr. Roosevelt noted, however, that the joint Canadian-American defense board named last night would meet Monday in Ottawa to organize and start work.

Reading from a memorandum from Secretary of War Stimson, the President said Stimson had informed him that it would take a year to fill up present regular and reserve army units with another 400,000 men, even at the present high rate of recruiting.

Interpolating his own remark that time is of the essence, he continued reading from the Stimson memorandum to say that another 400,000 men of supporting troops would be needed to make the army function as an organized team.

This, Stimson said, would take another year on the present basis of recruiting.

Too Many Men Soft
The President then went on to say that from present army maneuvers it had been shown that the country has too many men who are soft. There was plenty of willingness to work on the part of the men, he said, but many showed they could not stand the strain.

For example, Mr. Roosevelt said a 15-mile march was a terrible physical strain for some, yet on the other side of the ocean some armies could march 30 miles a day. In warfare, he commented, that means an awful lot.

Stimson, the Chief Executive continued, said that delay of the draft until next year would ser-

Church Comes to Rescue

Laurel, Del.—Fire destroyed the motion picture theater here, leaving no form of amusement for Laurel young people. St. Philip's Episcopal Church immediately opened its parish house and organized a series of weekly dances. "It is a life-saver for the youngsters who are not old enough to go out of town or who have no cars," said the rector, the Rev. R. Y. Barber.

 Bontoc, P. ### PICKAX USED TO KILL TROTSKY

Police officers are shown in Mexico City exhibiting the short-handled pickaxe used by the assailant of Leon Trotsky—attacked in his fortress-like home in the nearby village of Coyoacan. The exiled Russian leader died after whispering an accusation that his assailant "most likely" was a member of the OGPU, Soviet secret police.

TROTSKY SLAYER IN HOSPITAL

Identified by police as Jacques Mortan Vandendreschd, 36-year-old native of Iran, the attacker of Leon Trotsky, is shown in a Mexico City hospital where he was taken under police guard after being subdued by the exiled Russian leader's bodyguards—but only after he had succeeded in driving a short-handled pickaxe into Trotsky's skull, resulting in his death.

Cadet Dixon Assigned To S.S. Washington

Howard Hugh Dixon, 19, of Ellenville, has been appointed by the U. S. maritime commission as deck cadet to the SS. Washington, operated by the United States Lines.

Mr. Dixon, one of the 86 cadets from the state of New York presently in training under the regulations of the U. S. Maritime Commission, received a course of preliminary training and indoctrination at one of the commission's shore receiving stations before assignment to vessel. He was graduated in 1938 from Ellenville High School. On January 29 of this year, he took the national competitive examination prescribed by the U. S. maritime commission for appointments to cadet-ship candidates.

The SS. Washington, to which Cadet Dixon has been assigned, is operated by the United States Lines from New York to San Francisco via the Panama Canal.

ROCK PAID FOR

In this struggle for possession of the famous fortress of Gibraltar, commanding the western gate of the Mediterranean Sea, some of the disputants seem to be getting their facts twisted. Americans have no investment in Gibraltar, but are interested on-lookers, and the record is interwoven with our own history. The Daily Sun Times of Owen Sound, Canada, gives this account of the matter:
"It is true that Gibraltar was taken by Britain during the War of the Spanish Succession and has been a British possession ever since. But Britain does not hold it as a prize of war. By the Treaty of Paris, which ended the American War of Independence—in which Spain fought on the side of the colonists—a deal was made by which Spain agreed to Britain's retention of the Rock of Gibraltar in return for Florida and Minorca. Twenty years later Spain sold Florida to the United States. She still holds Minorca."
"Therefore, if Spain desires to regain Gibraltar, the equitable procedure would appear to be for her to buy Florida from the United States and cede it to Britain, along with Minorca, in return for the Rock."
Perhaps Britain might consider the proposal. But the Canadian paper wonders what Senator Pepper of Florida would say to such a deal.

FIRE'S MOTTO

When you consider that no industry would operate, no automobile would run, no home would be livable, no airplane would fly, that travel would come to a standstill, the miracle that happened when man learned to create fire and turn it into energy, is realized.
Another miracle will happen on the day man awakens to the destructive force of fire when it is used with ignorance or carelessness. Any adult person knows that a dwelling in which he lives demands the utilization of fire for heat and that fire is located in a furnace, a stove or fireplace. But there are too few persons who know that a leaky flue is potential disaster, or that a cigarette can be the harbinger of the evil that is constantly present with our friend, fire. Neither do they know that rags packed away with old paint cans, brushes, oil, etc., can under proper conditions, create enough heat to burst into a magical flame that can devour home and family.
Man can control and release the deadly heat of thermite, he can create electricity from water power and direct its use, but he can never safely disregard the danger, as well as the benefits of fire, in his everyday life. Fire is our indispensable ally and also one of our principal enemies when used carelessly. Fire's motto could well be: "Where man is careless, I am reckless; where man disregards me, he finds death and destruction."

THIRTY-THREE 'ON ORDER'

About three months ago President Roosevelt called for the production of 50,000 airplanes to meet the totalitarian menace of Europe. A few weeks later Congress appropriated the money to build upward of 4,000 planes for the army. The other day Secretary of War Stimson said that of the number only 33 were "on order." This is an unfortunate phrase which the President coined in his fireside chat but we can still make use of it.

The American public has a right to ask "why the delay?" Evidently there is more to this re-arming business than a statement of aim by the President and an appropriation of money by Congress. More than one reason is given for the delay. Some say that it is because of the failure of the administration to work out a satisfactory tax and construction plan for the expanding of industry to take care of defensive armament.

Whatever the reason, it is about time that we get busy, if there is any danger of attack from abroad. The New Deal has been in power during the period of intensive rearmament in Europe. In that time it has produced little armament but a lot of material "on order." The equipment "on order" has been increased by 33 planes during the past three months. But something a little better than that is needed.

AIR FIGHTERS

Military aviation is the most glamorous form of fighting since armored knights fought in the medieval crusades. It continues so even though its heroes fight anonymously and mostly remain unknown unless they are killed in combat, and although the chances of death to flying fighters are far greater than in other forms of fighting.

There is a thrill and perhaps a sort of intoxication in aerial combat beyond any other form of modern warfare. It appeals particularly to young men, and boys just emerging into manhood seem to make the best pilots and air fighters.

Perhaps it is well for the participants and spectators, and even for the great public which merely reads of the flyers' exploits, that the thrill covers up its terror and tragedy. Almost every plane shot down carries its flyers to their death. Thus the demand for human replacements is as insistent as the plane replacements, or even more so. Winged Mars is insatiable.

But the heroic youths of this supposedly selfless and prosaic age do not complain. All they ask for is guns and wings and a cause to defend.

George A. Wallace, who served the Cleveland fire department for 61 years, dies at the age of 92 and goes to a place where his services are not required.

Another example of American democracy: An expected strike of airplane mechanics in Seattle has been submitted voluntarily to federal arbitration.

Uncle Sam might bring out again that old rattlesnake flag with the motto, 'Don't Tread on Me.'

"It's dogged as does it," says British Tommy, but it's also the witskrieg that wins.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

AVOIDING OVERWEIGHT

I met a friend recently whom I had not seen for about two years. I had to look at him twice as he had lost considerable weight which greatly improved his appearance. His eyes were bright and I told him his loss of excess weight had given him a more youthful appearance. He then told me that a routine examination by his physician had discovered some sugar in his urine. His physician had told him that if he were willing to reduce his weight, he would likely prevent diabetes and the necessity of taking insulin.

By reducing his starch foods by half and his fat foods by one-quarter, in a period of less than a year he had reduced his weight from 186 pounds to 135 pounds, the proper weight for his height and build. When he reached 135 pounds he increased his food intake slightly and during the two months previous to our meeting, his weight had remained at exactly 135 pounds.

Had this man not reduced his weight his chances of becoming a diabetic were great because sugar was present in the urine and the amount of sugar in the blood was at the extreme limit of the amount present in normal urine.

There was no history of diabetes in his family but his physician's warning that overweight was a forerunner of diabetes so impressed him that he went immediately on the low starch diet with the above excellent results.

As a matter of fact, if a full or complete history of every diabetic could be obtained, it would be found that diabetes is hereditary, although all the children of a diabetic parent or parents might not develop diabetes. Dr. E. P. Joslin, Boston, who has done so much work on diabetes over many years, states "when a diabetic marries a non-diabetic but whose father or mother and sometimes brother or sister has diabetes, one-half the children should develop diabetes. But if a diabetic will choose a non-diabetic for a partner, none of the children should inherit the disease."

Can diabetes be prevented if there is a family tendency to it?

"Above all things do not become fat and fat. By avoiding overweight the hereditary tendency to diabetes can probably be overcome."

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Aug. 23, 1920.—The golden anniversary of Mrs. Jane A. Woods of West Union street as a member of the Rebekahs, was celebrated by Colonial Rebekah Lodge.

Ernest Smith of Ten Broeck avenue accidentally shot and wounded by another youth shooting at a target at Accord.

Mrs. Elting Crispell died in Springtown.

Aug. 23, 1930.—Engineer John J. Scully was instantly killed while his fireman, Lester Reed, died shortly after being admitted to the Kingston Hospital, when the boiler on the locomotive hauling the passenger train on the Ulster & Delaware railroad, blew up about halfway between Glenford and Ashokan at 8:15 o'clock that morning. Three of the cars in the train were derailed and 150 feet of track torn up. None of the passengers was injured. The locomotive was hurled upside down into the gully beside the track. Engineer Scully resided on Brewster street, and Fireman Reed on Albany avenue extension.

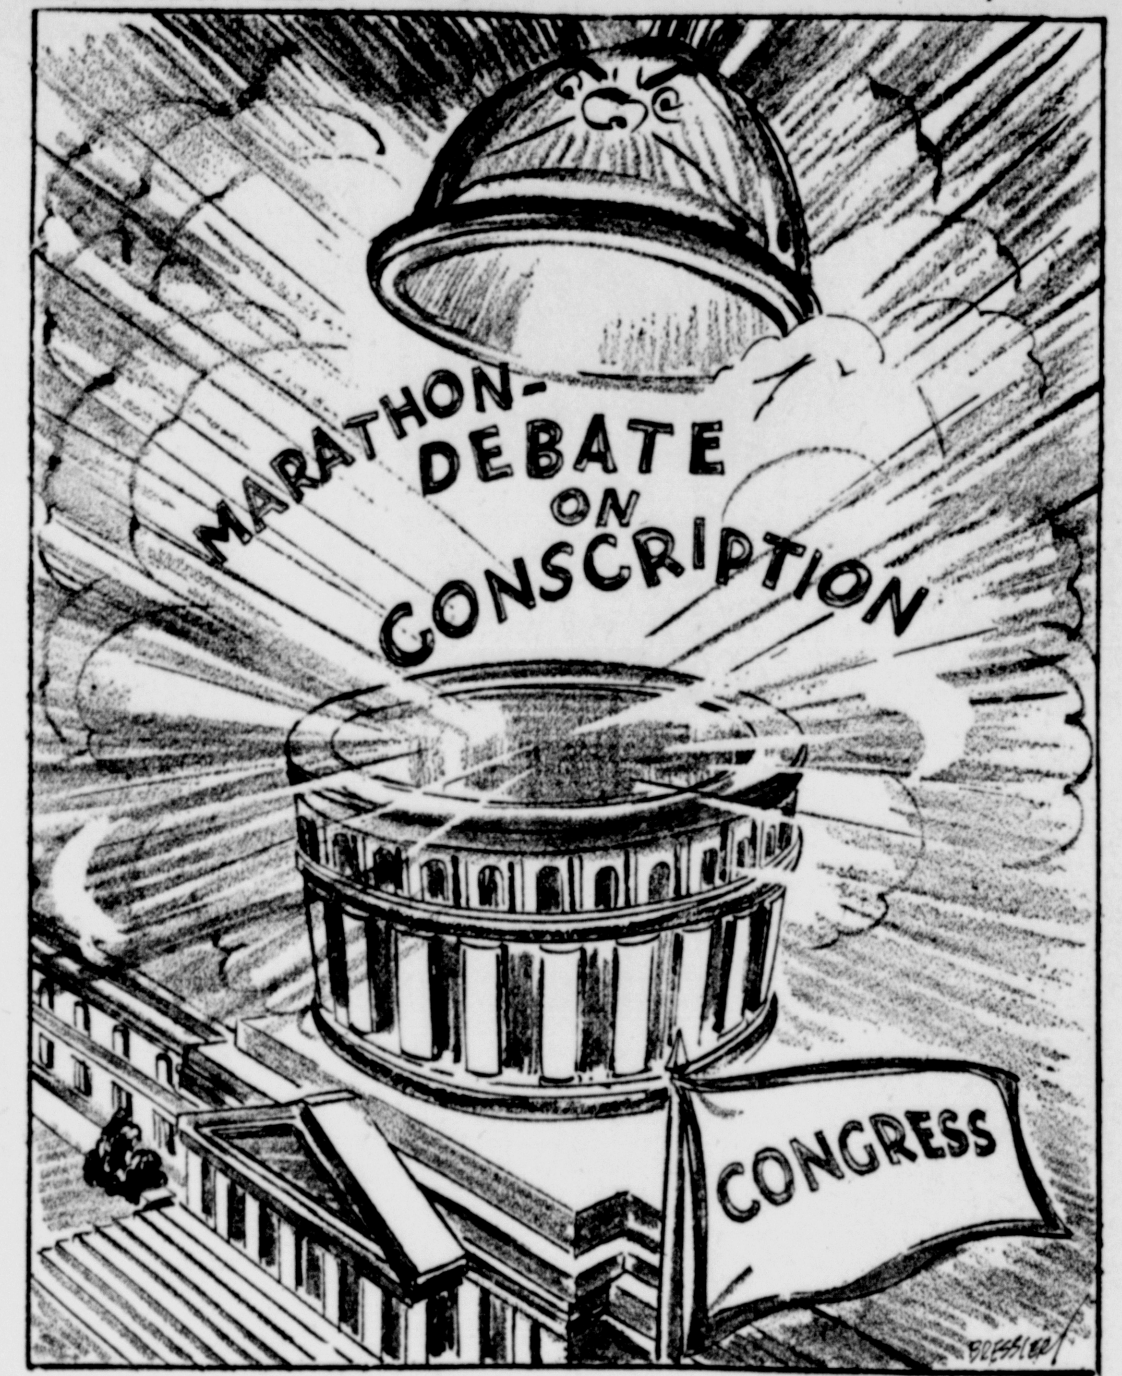

Elmer E. King of Elizabeth street and Miss Marion J. Robinson of Washington avenue married.

Ross K. Osterhout and Miss Margaret E. Harderburgh married in the Episcopal Church in Stone Ridge.

Miss Mildred Messinger of West Union street and George William Hutt of Middletown, married in the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer by the Rev. O. E. Brandorff.

Adolph Morris, a World War veteran, died here. George B. Risley, telegrapher at the Ulster & Delaware railroad, at the Shandaken station, died.

WASHINGTON HEAT WAVE

Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—Topics for a capital tea-party:

Jumbled politics—Big Ed (Edmund M.) Toland, Democrat, one-time G-man, former assistant United States attorney general, and contributor to the Democratic party in 1932, winds up his job as general counsel of Virginia Rep. Howard W. Smith's committee investigating the National Labor Relations board and leaves Washington with a Willkie button on his lapel.

Working without compensation, Toland has steered the committee through hearings which now total 26 volumes (eight to nine million words) and includes examination of nearly a million documents.

He says his work is done, that his personal affairs need attention, that he is displeased that the administration has been lethargic to NLRB reforms (the Smith amendments to the National Labor Relations act passed the House more than two months ago, still are awaiting action in the Senate) and that he's going out to do anything he can from making speeches to pushing doorbells for Willkie.

Hopkins Loses Aide

Ed Noble, Republican manufacturer of that candy with a hole, left a hole in Secretary Harry Hopkins' Department of Commerce when he resigned as undersecretary. Noble announced that he was returning to private life where he believed he "could better serve the defense program," than as chief departmental aide to Hopkins, who has been for some time one of the President's chief aides in matters political.

Although Hopkins held the reins in the presidential third term nomination at Chicago, political chatter has it that he is not continuing (as is customary) in the driver's seat and that Edward J. Flynn, new chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has let it be known that he doesn't want any back-seat driving from Hopkins or the other members of the New Deal inner circle.

Corcoran Startle Talk

Tommy Corcoran, the young ballad-singing Irish attorney, who has been second to Hopkins among New Dealers close to the White House, has gone off on a vacation. His going at this time is one of the favorite gossip topics at Washington tea parties.

The speculation runs these three ways: (1) That he definitely is out of favor at the White House and may not come back to Washington; (2) that he is going through another one of those periods of being temporarily in disfavor over some minor difference of opinion; (3) that he is NOT in disfavor at all and has only gone away for a while to rest up and figure out how best he can put his talents to use in the President's behalf between now and election.

Strange Things

Add to all these facts these strange things: (1) Republican Presidential Candidate Wendell L. Willkie, former Democrat, in his acceptance speech at Elwood, Ind., endorsed many of the New Deal objectives; (2) the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, Henry A. Wallace, is a former Republican, who once was publicly by a White House spokesman for declaring for a third term for Roosevelt; (3) President Roosevelt's cabinet contains two Republicans; (4) the National Defense Commission and its staff number many Republicans; (5) there have been many defections from the Democratic party recently; and (6) some New Dealers are saying that this is a good

JAPAN MENACES U. S.

Babson Appeals for Peace Conference NOW

San Francisco, Aug. 23.—A poker game is on in earnest between Japan and the U. S. We "opened" last Summer with the cancellation of the trade treaty we signed in 1911. Then we "raised" the Japs with the license restrictions on arms and ammunition in May. Now we are raising the bid again by extending these restrictions to scrap iron and petroleum. Japan is boiling mad, but she is staying right in the game by threatening to grab the Dutch East Indies, source of our vital rubber supplies.

Freer Hand for Nippon

We never worried much about Japan as long as the British could keep a weather eye peeled on the ambitious little fellows. It was, of course, hard for American missionaries to explain to wounded Chinese why Japan should be raping China with American genius, arms, and materials! But now with the Axis twisting the British Lion's tail, it's a different story. The British Asiatic fleet still commands the vital Straits of Malacca, but can this fleet keep watch over the mighty Japanese navy while the British home fleet is battling for its life in the North Sea? This is the question which thinking people are asking here on the Pacific coast.

If the British should be licked (and I don't believe they will be), part of our fleet would have to rush from the Pacific into the Atlantic. It is a cinch that the Japs would move quickly in such a contingency. If the British are not licked, even so the pressure on them will be terrific. They will find it hard to protect the Dutch East Indies even if they want to. The Japs know we would then be the only obstacle. Will they gamble on the chance that we won't act? Will they grab the Indies before we can move and hope that U. S. citizens will shrug their shoulders and mutter, "Why should American boys defend Dutch possessions in the far-off Orient?"

Raw Material Source

It seems a good question. Why should they? I will give you the reason. Can you imagine a U. S. motorized army of scout cars, trucks, airplanes, without rubber tires? Could the U. S. or Canadian industrial system function with tireless automobiles, trucks and buses? I doubt it. We and our Canadian brothers must have rubber! Our new synthetic rubber—America—will not be ready in sufficient amount for several years. The Dutch East Indies are our principle source of natural rubber although we get some from Africa and some from Brazil. So Japan is hiking our bid of an embargo on scrap iron and oil by getting set to pounce on the Dutch East Indies.

Of course, President Roosevelt says it isn't an embargo. It is only a licensing system—but as exporters here in San Francisco say, "Try to get a license." The license order does not say who it is aimed at, but exporters will tell you how quickly your application will get all snarled up in red tape if it is for permission to ship to Japan. This is a serious blow to Japan because she depends on our scrap and oil to build and fuel her growing war machine. We supply her with 70 and 90 per cent respectively of these materials.

Chemists Better Than Soldiers

Moreover, she depends on us to pay for her imports of scrap and oil through our gigantic purchases of silk. This end of the business does not look so good for the Japanese either. Japan really fears American chemistry rather than American diplomacy. Nylon is beginning to take the place of silk in women's hosiery. It already has taken over 10 per cent of the market! Cutting off our silk purchases can be a mortal wound to Japan because, license system or no license system, the foreign exchange necessary to purchase American scrap and oil would put a tremendous load on her already over-strained financial system.

To Shoot the Works

It is evident, therefore, that the Japanese may, sooner or later, be forced to "shoot the works"—that is to risk war with Britain and the United States. Many a foreign observer believes we should beat her to the punch by starting now while she is embroiled in China, while Britain can help us, while Russia is still a menace to Nipponese. At any rate, the fuel for a first-class U. S.-Japanese embroglio is all there. Only thing lacking is the spark to set it off—and many a coast resident is fearful that spontaneous combustion may start it.

Meanwhile, the oil and scrap restrictions have hit U. S. business here on the coast harder than anywhere else. Japan has been taking over 60,000 barrels of oil per day—most of which is cleared through Los Angeles! While small as compared with national crude oil output, it bulked big in relation to California's already severely prorated output of 560,000 barrels daily. Shippers are not hurt by the oil restrictions because most of it sailed in Nipponese tankers. Scrap restrictions cut just so much more into the bustle and hustle here on San Francisco's docks and freighters, already held down by the war and other fetters.

License Policy Okay

I am, however, all for the embargo license system or whatever you call it. I believe that the Japanese are as big a menace to us as the Nazis, and I am 100 per cent in favor of doing everything we can, short of war, to prevent them from going too far. If, however, war is inevitable, perhaps it had better come now than when the entire Axis group of nations are ready to put the screws on us. On the other hand, it seems as if, with all these nations worshipping the same God, there should be some way to settle these great problems without resort to war. Sometime Britain, Germany, Japan and the United States MUST sit around a conference table and settle things. Why not do it now?

Willkie Can Have His Debate With President By Following One of Fireside Chats

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1940)

Washington, Aug. 23.—Wendell Willkie can have his debate with President Roosevelt and without asking the latter's consent either. It would differ slightly from what was originally proposed, but for all practical purposes the American people could hear both candidates on the same evening and one could answer the arguments of the other.

The device is a simple one, in fact it was used in the London-Roosevelt campaign in 1936. Roosevelt's answer to Willkie's question was a precedent for it. When President Roosevelt, for example, makes his next fireside chat, Mr. Willkie can ask all major radio companies in advance that he be permitted to have an equal amount of time on the air immediately following the President.

No manuscript of the President's remarks would, of course, be provided Mr. Willkie so he would be just like any other listener. He could make his notes as he listened to the speech and immediately he would be given the chance for an extemporaneous speech.

This method would be fair because it would give both candidates the same audience and the people would be given an opportunity to hear both sides of a controversy whereas hitherto with the exception of one case in 1936 the same public has not been assembled or even the same stations hooked up for the answer to a speech of one or the other of the candidates.

It was when General Hugh Johnson went on the air to make a reply to Governor Landon that the radio companies established the precedent of furnishing immediately to a speaker the time to reply to a presidential nominee. Also in the campaign of 1932, President Hoover asked the broadcasting companies to reserve time for him to make reply to Mr. Roosevelt in the event the latter bought time on the Monday night just preceding Election Day. Although there were widespread rumors that Mr. Roosevelt would speak, it did not materialize, but one of the radio companies did agree to sell time for the purpose.

It might be suggested that to grant time to a Republican candidate or to anyone else to answer the President of the United States would be a discourtesy to the latter, but the fact is in a political campaign the broadcasting companies, having announced that they would sell time, cannot logically refuse to sell to any political committee which wants to buy it. In fact the language of the federal statute governing the use of radio specifically provides that candidates must be given an opportunity to obtain the same facilities for reply as are given to any other candidate.

Now if the broadcasting companies contend, as they used to do, that when Mr. Roosevelt makes a fireside chat he is not speaking as a candidate, but as President of the United States, a difficult issue is raised. Under the Hatch law, the President cannot use his "official authority" to influence any election and if he were to accept facilities as a President of the United States and these were denied to Mr. Willkie it would make a prima facie case of willfulness on the part of Mr. Roosevelt to use his official authority to gain an advantage in a political election.

The position of the broadcasting companies as recently determined at their convention is that if the Republican leadership contends that any speech of Mr. Roosevelt is political, the radio companies will accept that construction and will subsequently grant facilities either free or for pay on exactly the same basis that the air was furnished to Mr. Roosevelt.

But it would take at least a day or two for such a process to be set into operation. It would not afford a chance to make prompt reply. So the only way to assure Mr. Willkie of radio facilities to refute what the President has said, whether it is implicitly or explicitly political, is for the national headquarters of the Willkie campaign to make a reservation now for the half hour following any address made by the President over the air at night.

If the procedure whereby Mr. Willkie answers the President in an extemporaneous speech is considered unfair by the Roosevelt side on the theory that it doesn't furnish the President an opportunity to refute what Mr. Willkie has said, then it would be possible for the arrangement to be alternated. Thus on some occasions, Mr. Willkie could speak first and Mr. Roosevelt could take the air to answer him, but the same rule would then prevail—the President would have to make an impromptu and unprepared speech after Mr. Willkie had spoken. The plan would require that no manuscript be furnished in advance to anybody.

The broadcasting companies would doubtless be glad to furnish their facilities free for a series of five or six debates and to arrange not only for a half hour for each of the two main speeches, but also 15 minutes for rebuttal for each.

The importance to the American people of such extemporaneous debating cannot be overestimated. It gives them access directly to the minds of the two men aspiring to sit in the White House after next January. It would reveal what each one thinks without the aid of brain trusters or ghost writers or the group of advisers who, in Mr. Roosevelt's case, are suspected of really running the government or, in Mr. Willkie's case, are suspected by his opponents of being ready to advise him. The public would be able to measure President Roosevelt in impromptu speech for the first time on the air on a major occasion. Mr. Willkie has done it before in town hall debates. It would be a great demonstration of democracy and sportsmanship. (Reproduction rights reserved.)

"If It Prove Fair Weather," by Isabel Paterson

You would know that Isabel Paterson is a person of determination if you never had read her "Turns with a Bookworm" in the New York Herald Tribune, but only had seen her leave the 5:03 New Haven at Stamford, Conn., and stride purposefully to her waiting car. You would be sure, and you would be right about it. Of you you read "If It Prove Fair Weather" you would be just as sure. Miss Paterson says, not quite seriously, of course, that this novel is "the only love story ever written," and in a little leaflet enclosed in the package which brought our review copy she explains what she means. It is that most love stories are not much occupied with the personal relations of the man and woman, concern themselves surprisingly little with the "way those two little people felt about each other, and how it (love) made them behave to each other."

She goes farther. She says that "it is more or less assumed that if there had been no Montagues and Capulets families, or if Anna Karenina had been married already, all would have gone smoothly, and there would have been nothing to write about." Using for example two of the most popular love stories of all time.

Then you read Miss Paterson's extraordinary book. It is told out of the mind of the woman, whose name is Emmy. She is, inexplicably, a woman of brains and charm who loves a brass-bound fool. James Nathaniel Wishart is to be sure, a quite successful business man and he is married in a New York college and throughout the novel has no direct attachment that would interfere with a liaison. But Wishart can never break through his cocoon and Emmy can never manage to snatch up a pen-knife and cut him out of it. So they go through the book in a state of suspension, as it were, realizing little from their love.

The reader sees the relationship through Emmy's mind most of the time. When outside opinions are introduced, these also are presented as reflections upon Emmy's thought. So that Miss Paterson has done two things instead of one. She has explored two very specific cases and she has done a study of frustration which may perhaps be even more important than her story of love. Certainly it is a remarkable achievement to do a successful novel all in shades of one color.

Show You How to Swing

You, Too, Can Play a Good Game

A grand game, golf—one that makes for sociability, friends. But you're at a disadvantage if you can't keep up with good playing.

Fortunately, playing golf well is mostly a matter of right instruction. If you have a poor golf swing it may be because you went about learning the wrong way.

You cannot learn a golf stroke by piecing together different parts of the action, as you observe them in watching another player. A golf swing is a single continuous motion, circular in shape as the diagram shows.

Actually getting the feel of a true swing is the only way to play well. Grasp your club and practice swinging it in a short arc, allowing your hands and forearms to move freely back and forth with the club. Merely flexing your wrists will not produce a real swing. Now gradually increase the scope of your swing, turning your body in response to the movement.

With such practice, you soon find your strokes increasing in power, accuracy!

Learn the right way to play golf from our 32-page booklet. Ernest Jones, teacher of champions, explains balance, timing, how to stand, grip your club and swing with a maximum of force and accuracy. For beginners and more experienced players.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of SWING'S THE THING IN GOLF to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Yankees Continue Streak By Downing Indians, 15-2; Cards Go Into 3rd Place Tie

Cubs Blank Dodgers, 5-0;
Reds Trip Bees on Bill
Werber's Homer in 9th; Giants Split

(By The Associated Press)
The epitaphs have been written, the decline and the fall of the Yankee empire have been explained fully, the mourners have headed for home—but the Yankees refuse to stay dead.

Certainly they looked like anything but hopelessly beaten ex-champions yesterday as they smashed the first-place Cleveland Indians, 15-2, in as brutal an assault the American League has seen all year. They hit a new high in seasonal effectiveness in that nightmarish second inning when they scored nine runs, of which four were produced by Joe DiMaggio's 26th homer with the bases full.

Raking Al Milnar, Eisenstat and Zuber for 12 lusty blows—six of them for extra bases—the Yanks ran their victory string to 12 out of their last 15 tries and to four straight over the league's top two teams. That sent them scooting into third place (just eight games off the pace), which represents the dizzy heights to which they've climbed since the season's earliest days.

The Yankee triumph, plus a 9-8 Detroit victory over the Boston Red Sox, brought about largely by the remarkable relief hurling of Fred Hutchinson and his timely hitting, cut the Indians' lead over the Tigers to 4½ games.

Hutchinson blanked the Sox after replacing Newsom in the second inning and drove Dutch Meyer home in the 10th with a crackling single to plummet the Sox into fourth place.

In the league's only other offering—a night game—Johnny Berardino, with five blows in five tries, led an 18-hit St. Louis Browns assault on the Athletics that netted the Browns an 8-4 victory.

Rain forced postponement of the Chicago-Washington game. The National League also has a team that refuses to admit it started too late—the cocky Cardinals. They won their seventh straight by whaling Philadelphia, 9-0, to jump into a third-place tie with the New York Giants, busy splitting a double-header with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Mize Hits 36th
Mort Cooper limited the Phils to six hits while the Cards banged out 12, including Johnny Mize's 36th homer.

The Giants won the first game from the Pirates, 5-4, as Mickey White singled home Mel Ott in the 12th inning, after the Bucs had booted the contest away in the 11th by filling the bases with none out and failing to score. The second game went to the Pirates, 4-0, as Truett Sewell racked up his third win over the Terrymen with a five-hit job. Elbie Fletcher helped him out with a sixth-inning homer with two on.

Bill Werber was the toast of Cincinnati for his ninth-inning home run that beat the Boston Bees, 3-2, and gave Bucky Walters his oft-delayed 17th victory. The Reds scored two in the first, and the Bees tied it up in the sixth when Max West hit his fourth homer of the year with Gene Moore on base. The victory, plus Brooklyn's loss to the Cubs, extended the Reds' lead to 6½ games.

Vern Olsen almost had a no-hitter as the Cubs whaled the Brooks, 5-0, the fourth straight western loss for the invaders. He finally was touched for singles by Ducky Medwick and Joe Vosmik in the seventh, but these were the only two the Durocher Dandies could get off his puzzling slants. Two Cub hits and two Brook errors gave Chicago an early 2-0 lead, then the Cubs knocked Whit Wyatt off the mound in the fourth with a four-hit, three-run blast.

Junior Softball
After winning a forfeit from the Bluejays, the Texas Lunch softball team lost a play-off match to the Swamp-lilies, 7-4. Les Finley, D. Williams and Bowers hit homers for the winners.

Goumans played excellent ball at first for the losers. Osterhoudt, Quigley slashed out doubles.

Umpires to Have Special 'Night' in Oklahoma Tonight

Fans, Owners and Players
Will Honor Ed Palmer,
16 Years in Game;
No Bad Feeling

Oklahoma City, Aug. 23 (AP)—If everything works out right, the fans at tonight's Texas League baseball game between San Antonio and Oklahoma City can be found in the stands and not in the umpires' hair.

It's "be kind to umpires" night, a little thing dreamed up by the home club bosses to honor the forgotten men in the blue serge suits. The umpires themselves will tell you that nowhere in the league do they get as much unsolicited assistance from the crowd as they do here.

Right now, the fans are extra boisterous. They're trying to keep their team in the first division for a Shaughnessy playoff berth, and each one considers it a personal insult when the "umps" on the field don't agree with those in the stands.

So the front office force asked the customers to check their sarcasm at the gate, hide their hatred for oil "Blind Tom" and take him on the field don't agree with those in the stands.

Whether they recognize them or not, the cheers tonight—if any—will fill on the ears of Eddie Palmer, for 16 years a Texas League player and umpire; Jim Tongate, a

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
Artist

Orangesburg, S. C.—Warrants were delivered to the sheriff here charging a vegetable buyer with being a bad check artist—but an artist.

The warrants, delivered by a magistrate, charged him with passing 317 worthless checks to farmers for produce. They ranged from 30 cents to $200.

Small World

Lancaster, Pa.—It was indeed a small world that separated Mrs. John Wagner and her sister, Miss Norma Heffy.

They lost track of each other 18 years ago after adoption by different families.

Reunited through a chance meeting arranged by a mutual friend impressed by their resemblance, the sisters discovered they lived only 24 miles apart.

Fall Guy

Houston, Tex.—K. R. Andrews, telephone lineman, disturbed a yellow jacket at the top of a 30-foot pole. The insect zoomed into a power line. Andrews ducked and swung. The yellow jacket circled and came back again and again.

"Next thing I knew, I was on the ground looking up," Andrews told hospital attendants.

He had two broken ankles.

Dorothy's Day

Lincoln, Neb.—Cupid must have been concentrating on Dorothy, mused County Judge Robin Reid as marriage licenses 643, 644, 645, and 646 in a single day went to Dorothy Glantz, Dorothy Ray, Dorothy Venter, and Dorothy Ossenkop.

Hiking Bell Boys

Elm Creek, Neb.—Archie Bell, Kearney policeman, recognized immediately two hitch-hikers he picked up near Odessa. They were his own sons, A. W. O. L.

Calling a Spade a Spade

Miami, Fla.—They've resumed serving rubber fried eggs and wooden slabs of bread in Miami.

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personalities of a House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)

Flowers for the Mothers of the Couple To Be Married Merely a Matter of Custom, Says Mrs. Post

Whether the mothers of the bride and of the bridegroom wear flowers at the wedding, is almost entirely a question of the custom of the locality, as is also the further question of "Who supplies their flowers if they wear them?" In the smaller cities the corsage bouquets of the mothers are almost as important to the wedding as the picture as the bride's bouquet. In New York, flowers, if any, depend upon whether they will add or detract from the smartness of a particular dress. In certain localities the flowers are part of the general decoration supplied by the father of the bride. Often the groom gives flowers to his mother. Most appealing is the rare occasion when flowers for her mother are chosen and sent by the bride.

Fork Used in Buttering Vegetables
Dear Mrs. Post: In your book "Etiquette" you state that in buttering vegetables on the plate, they may be buttered with the fork only—not at any time with the knife. When the butter is on an individual plate, how is the butter to be transferred from the plate to the vegetables? Do you mean that the fork is used to cut off a portion of the butter on the butter plate and then transferred to the vegetables?

Answer: If we must be mincingly correct, we put the right amount of butter on our plate near the potato with our butter knife, then we lift the butter with the fork to the top of the potato and Answer: The wedding dress problem is a real one that has affected very many brides. But the one-half cent postage is, it seems to me, something else again. The number of announcements might be cut down and postage left in full. Nothing is so shoddy as an announcement mailed at though it were an advertisement!

Fresno, Calif. (AP)—Yellow jackets, so thick they consumed an entire ham in a few hours, are reported driving vacationers away from the Mono Pot Springs area in the high Sierras. Indians said the plague indicated a long, cold winter.

A customer-friend came in early this week saying, "I came here for my Frigidaire because I understand Frigidaire is the best that money can buy. Now I want a Bengal range."

You don't have to tell these women. They know what they want, and why!

Manufacturers are always thinking up new improvements for ranges, refrigerators, etc., but no matter how good they look in the factory they are not good until women accept them. That's why the new "Peek-In-Oven" feature on our Bengal ranges is good. Women are crazy about it.

No wonder! The Peek-In-Oven has a double thick Pyrex glass front, and electric light. It takes the guesswork out of cooking, for food can be seen at all times. The oven door doesn't have to be opened, therefore cakes needn't fall, and gas will be saved. One can keep a constant check on broiled foods without opening the door. And the entire oven is easier to clean.

The smartest thing any store can do is give people what they want. That's why Ann Moore in our Decorating Department says to please mention Belvaler Translucent Venetian Blinds in the GUIDEPOST. People like them!

Instead of being made of wood, they are translucent, so that while affording the same privacy as the old type Venetian blind, more light streams through. Moreover, since they are in graduated rainbow colors, they give rooms a lovely soft glow. They are washable and extremely easy to keep clean. Women are using them everywhere, in bedrooms, dining rooms, baths and kitchens. And why shouldn't they? They cost only $1.98—as compared to the five or six dollars ordinarily invested in the usual Venetian blinds. Very small sizes, 17 to 23, are only $1.10.

The new low price of our Everhot Electric Roaster is $22.95. This is the perfect roaster that cuts work in half and cooks automatically while you work or play. Roasts! Broils! Cans! Fries! Bakes! Boils!

Herzog's Guidepost

To better living

THINGS are made for use! And in the spirit of putting more things into use now, we have arranged a great mark-down event involving lawn mowers, hammocks and croquet sets.

We have a big run on these things every May and June—but remember our gorgeous, long Eastern Coast Autumns—lovely jewel-tone days, all gold and red, with sapphire blue skies, that last into November. These are the days to lie in a hammock and muse! To neat the lawn! To send the croquet balls clicking!

Of course you can wait until next May, but the truth is we'd like to make room for our Fall merchandise, so we're giving you a chance to get a lot of use out of these things this Autumn—as well as next year—at prices marked down so low it's just plain smart to buy now!

At present you'll find hammocks marked as much as one-third off, lawn mowers marked down considerably, and four-ball croquet sets with rack for as little as $1.98.

Camp Greenkill To Present Play

Group to Give Comedy by Hart and Kaufman

Fifteen men and women counselors at Camp Greenkill on Rosendale road are hard at work rehearsing parts for their play, an adaptation of George S. Kaufman's and Moss Hart's Pulitzer prize winner—"You Can't Take It With You"—which will be given at the camp this Saturday night in the close of the dramatic season there.

The play, a farce, was shown at local theatres starring Lionel Barrymore in movie form not so long ago and was accorded a great reception by local movie goers who thrilled to the warmth and depth of the opus. The Greenkill amateurs believe that they have captured most of the feeling that made this plan an outstanding hit on Broadway and throughout the world.

Dealing with the affairs of a madcap family suddenly gone completely topsy-turvy, it is expected to provide a great source of amusement to all those who attend. Besides the campers a great crowd of relatives and townfolk is expected to attend.

The cast of characters includes Bob Langbaum, who also directs; Ruth Green, winner of an amateur contest at the Village Rest not so long ago; Harold Gonzer, junior dramatic comedy star of the New York, N. Y. M. C. A. production.

tions; Helen Cummins, Smith College dramatic actress, and Howard Ward, who up until this production has confined his talents to the athletic diamonds but who has shown amazing aptitude for work behind the footlights.

U.S.-Canadian Defense Board To Organize Monday in Ottawa

Roosevelt Selects Six Americans, King Five Canadians; New York Mayor Is Named

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt noted at his press conference today that the U. S.-Canadian defense board would organize in Ottawa Monday, but volunteered that there was no news on negotiations for British naval and air bases, or on the much-discussed question of transferring over-age destroyers to Britain.

Reporters crowded into the President's office expecting that an announcement might be forthcoming on the leasing of British air and naval bases in this hemisphere, possibly in Newfoundland, Bermuda and Trinidad. Yesterday there had been a White House conference on the subject.

But today, regarding these negotiations and the proposal to transfer destroyers, the President said that he was in consultation with Mr. Roosevelt last night who is not in the federal service, the others being officials of the army, navy or state department.

LaGuardia Named

Six Americans, selected by President Roosevelt, and five Canadians, picked by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, will meet Monday at Ottawa for initial discussions.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York was the only one of the American members named by Mr. Roosevelt last night who is not in the federal service, the others being officials of the army, navy or state department.

LaGuardia's selection came as a surprise to the capital, although as mayor of the nation's largest city and president of the United States Conference of Mayors he has been in consultation with Mr. Roosevelt on defense matters.

The others named by the President are:

Lieutenant General Stanley D. Embick, commanding the Fourth Corps Area with headquarters at Atlanta.

Captain Harry W. Hill, of the navy's war plans division.

Commander Forrest P. Sherman of the navy and Lieut. Col. Joseph T. McNarney of the Army Air Corps, who will alternate, one sitting during discussion of naval problems and the other for army air problems.

John D. Hickerson, assistant chief of the European affairs division of the state department, who will be secretary of the American section of the board.

Army Has Enough Weapons to Equip 3,000,000 Soldiers

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—An official inventory showed today, officers said, that the army has an ample supply, not only of rifles, but of all basic weapons for a force of 3,000,000 men—more than twice the number that would be under arms in the first year of a compulsory military training program.

Replying directly to critics who have said that the war department could not equip a conscript army, General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, declared flatly yesterday: "We have plenty of material to train all these men."

Although he derided fears that the United States would have a "wooden gun" or "broomstick" army, General Marshall acknowledged without hesitation that adequate supplies of newer, lightning weapons were lacking. He referred especially to anti-tank guns, 60-millimeter mortars and 90-millimeter anti-aircraft guns.

Taking issue with the argument that conscripts should not be drafted until modern weapons were available, he declared that a soldier's basic training could be given with existing equipment.

"We have enough 30-caliber rifles for 3,000,000 men right now," General Marshall said. "It makes little difference in the training of a soldier whether he has a Garand (semi-automatic) rifle or 30-caliber rifle."

Backing up General Marshall's statement with its latest count of basic weapons, the war department said it owned 3,000 75-millimeter guns and 75,000 machine guns (exclusive of aircraft guns), which also were sufficient for 3,000,000 men.

Its June 27 inventory of other weapons showed:

Three-inch anti-aircraft guns—448 on hand, 52 additional on order.

90-millimeter anti-aircraft guns (a new design) funds provided for 203, with 1,409 more to be bought.

50-caliber anti-aircraft machine guns—1,014 on hand, 1,362 more to be ordered.

Total of all mobile anti-aircraft guns to be acquired within 18 months—4,616.

Germans Rout Officials

Basel, Switzerland, (AP)—German authorities in Alsace and Lorraine were reported today to have completed removal of all state employees—from provincial officials to common laborers—not of pure Alsatin or Lorraine origin. The last group of such state employees left the two provinces yesterday on German order, according to advices reaching Switzerland, for other parts of German-occupied France, or for the zone governed from Vichy. They were permitted to take 50 pounds of baggage and 5,000 French francs, or 250 marks (nominally about $100), with them. All their other property was confiscated by the state.

MODES of the MOMENT

Hot dogs taste good at the New York World's Fair, and Josephine Johnson, debutante, is careful not to spill any mustard on her white shirtdress frock from the World of Fashion.

Yoshitsuke Aikawa (above) has been mentioned as the probable next Japanese ambassador to the United States, succeeding Ken-kuke Horinouchi, recalled.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 23 (AP)—Traders cashed profits in today's stock market and leading issues dipped fractions to more than a point.

Dealings, fairly lively in the forenoon, dwindled later and transfers were at the rate of approximately 300,000 shares. Prices were slightly better near the final hour.

Analysts were not particularly perturbed by the early reaction which they termed "mild" and to be expected in view of an approaching week-end and the fact market averages had registered advances in the past five consecutive sessions. Renewed bombing of England by the Nazis also revived nervousness to some extent and served partially to offset continued business optimism.

Bonds backed away and commodities were irregularly lower. Stocks in losing territory most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Glenn Martin, Lockheed, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Anaconda, Western Union, Standard Oil of Indiana, Montgomery Ward and International Paper Preferred.

International Nickel was a resistant spot but other Canadian climbers of yesterday took a rest. Lagging in the curb were Bell Aircraft, Electric Bond & Share, Humble Oil, Lake Shore, American Cyanamid "B" and Jones & Laughlin.

Contract Plan Is Expected to Open Way for Financing

An industrial contract plan made public by the national defense commission yesterday is designed to open the way for private financing of many plants built for the national defense program and remove some of the most important stumbling blocks to prompt action. The government under the plan will contract to pay the company in five annual installments, as part of the purchase price of the goods, the total cost of additional facilities. At the end of five years title to the plant will be in the hands of the company, but the government will have to be compensated for its investment before the company may freely use the plant.

The first eight railroads to report net operating income for July show net 3.8 per cent above the June figures and 3.4 per cent above the net for July, 1939.

Barron's issue of the physical volume of business for the week ended August 17 shows an increase of a full point over the previous week, standing at 83.8 per cent of normal as against 82.8 the previous week. A year ago the index was 72.2.

Engineering construction awards for the week ended August 22, totaled $128,449,000, second highest for the year and 109 per cent above the same week last year.

The stock market again advanced Thursday, closing higher for the fifth consecutive day, to 412.180 shares. The Dow-Jones industrial average gained 1.39 points, to 126.46, rails advanced 1/2 to 27.09 and utilities, with the preferred stocks noticeably strong, were up 31 point for the day, closing at 22.28. There was home profit-taking in various issues during the last hour, but averages closed at the best levels of the day.

U. S. Steel led the list of 15 most active stocks, losing 1/2 in turnover of 11,100 shares. International Nickel of Canada was strong and gained 1 1/2 points. Anaconda and General Motors were among the most active issues and each gained 1/4.

Most commodities displayed an upward tendency and the index gained 24 point. Wheat was 1/2 to 1/4 higher. Wood tops were strong and active on estimates that mill consumption for the second half would be larger than in the first six months, due to heavy government purchases under the national defense program. Under heavy selling and profit-taking cotton futures dropped four to six points. Hog prices moved to the highest level since early September last year, bringing moderate advances in lard and cottonseed oil.

Six Persons Die In German Raids

British bombers countered with raids over western Germany. The Nazi high command acknowledged, "without special effect" but "a number of civilians injured."

The rising sun brought new waves of German bombers ranging over the island kingdom, attacking a northeast coast town where a large store was wrecked by a direct bomb-hit, a hotel was damaged and patrons of a cafe were trapped under debris when a bomb struck the building.

Italian Threat Reported

An Italian threat to invade Greece if the British occupy any Greek islands was reported in a dispatch from Rome.

"If the British move into Greece, we will do the same," a high Fascist spokesman declared, commenting on rumors that Britain might occupy Crete and Corfu.

DNE, the official German news agency, reported that British long-range cannon hurled shells 20-odd miles across the channel to bombard the vicinity of Nazi-held Calais on the French coast.

London said the chief counter-attack had been made by RAF dive-bombers attempting to silence the German batteries.

Air raid sirens in the British capital sounded a 45-minute alarm, ending at 4 a. m., and London's millions heard the bark of anti-aircraft guns and the roar of bomb explosions in the western outskirts.

A British communiqué said "a small number of casualties" resulted in London, while attacks in other parts of the island kingdom by Nazi warplanes "operating singly or in small numbers" resulted in some damage and "a number of fatal injuries."

U.S. Will Hold Its Rail Wage Hearing

The majority, comprising labor's four representatives, contended that the evidence, "properly weighed, fairly supported a finding that employment in the industry would not have been substantially curtailed by the establishment of a 40-cent minimum."

After the hearing, the administrator may approve or disapprove the recommendations. In the latter event, he could refer them back to the same committee or appoint a new one.

The majority report included estimates that the recommendations would mean pay increases for 55,805 employees of trunk line railroads, or about one employee in 16. Of these, 23,727 would be in the southern district, which would bear about $4,500,000 of the increased cost, and 25,914 would be in the western district.

For the short lines, it was estimated that 5,300 out of 17,000 employees would get pay boosts.

Senate Sends National Guard Measure Along to White House

Legislation Authorizes President to Call Out Guardsmen for Duty on 12-Month Basis

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—The senate sent to the White House today legislation authorizing the president to call the National Guard and army reserves to active duty for any period of 12 consecutive months.

The chamber completed legislative action on the resolution by accepting without dissent a conference report previously approved by the house.

As finally enacted, the measure would make approximately 396,000 members of the guard, officers reserve corps, enlisted reserves and other units subject to active service anywhere within the western hemisphere or the Philippine Islands.

The legislation provides that any guardsman or reserve under the rank of captain who has dependents with no other means of support could resign within 20 days after he has been ordered into active service. Guard members under 18 years of age would be given honorable discharges.

Re-employment of those inducted into service would be required of employers, after their period of active service ended, with a provision that they should not then be discharged without cause for one year.

Saugerties Boys Hurt in Crash in Serious Condition

One of the two Saugerties boys injured Wednesday in an accident at Orangeburg, S. C., was described in "questionable" condition, according to a report received today by his parents.

The injured youth, whose condition is apparently the worst of the two, is William Buhl, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Buhl. It was reported that he suffered a serious back injury when the car he was riding with his companion, John Denike, was in collision with another machine.

Young Denike, it was reported today, suffered two broken legs, a crushed chest, a broken arm and a mouth injury. His condition was described as "better" today, but there were no details given to qualify that report.

It was reported today that the two young men were injured in a crash when they were on their way back to Saugerties after making a delivery of some articles at West Palm Beach for Mrs. Buhl.

Upstate College Presidents Drop F.D.R. for Willkie

the nation in the trying days through which we are living," in particular, they support Willkie's "wise regulation of our free enterprise system, of collective bargaining, federal assistance to the underprivileged—necessary postulates of twentieth-century government."

In 1932, we believed that the leadership represented by Mr. Roosevelt would carry through a number of necessary measures of social justice more smoothly than could that represented by Mr. Hoover, despite the latter's well-marked concern for such developments. In 1936, when the administration had accomplished as much modification of the spirit and practice of our economic life as the nation could wisely attempt to digest, we expected that, if continued, it would direct its effort toward the abatement of the frictions which a rapid succession of wide-sweeping reforms had inevitably generated.

This did not, however, turn out to be the temper of the Roosevelt administration after the election of 1936. Obviously, the art of politics in a democracy involves the leading of a people to work together gladly and practically for the public good. It essays to bring about the cooperation of all useful groups. The great number of people engaged in industry and commerce are, of course, members of preeminently useful groups. Emphasizing the admitted inequities of a small number of business men, the administration allowed itself to underrate and even to sneer at the contributions of business enterprise to our national welfare. It seemed to regard business as an object of continuous discipline rather than an object of constructive encouragement.

No Reconciliation

The reconciliation of private initiative with social justice is obviously not possible under the implication that any and all business success is in itself odious. Certain authoritative spokesmen took an attitude, however, which would be logical only under the doctrine that private business initiative should eventually be liquidated. It may have been the manner as much as the measures of the administration which produced this impression, but in any event the impression has in our judgment been disastrous. The economic and social creed which you expressed in your acceptance address seems to us to represent the realistic liberalism that ought properly to guide the nation in the trying days through which we are living.

In particular we are gratified over your support of wise regulation of our free enterprise system, of collective bargaining, and of federal assistance to the underprivileged. These seem to us to be necessary postulates of 20th-century government. The ideal of a negative government was naturally favored when the founders of our republic were revolting against the planned economy of the British imperial system. At that time the individual's circumstances made appropriate an almost complete self-reliance. He needed very little cooperation from government except by way of protection from direct personal attack upon himself or his property. Under those circumstances it was difficult for him to see that some enterprises could better be carried on socially than individually—for example, elementary education.

Requires Transfer

Today complicated interdependence among individuals in this era of the machine inevitably requires the transfer of many questions from the individual responsibility to social responsibility, with consequent social control. Thus we need a more positive government than did our predecessors of four or five generations ago. We do not believe, however, that every proposal to extend the sphere of government should be joyously embraced. Rather, we would insist that every such proposal should be carefully scrutinized and accepted only on the clearest demonstration that its benefits outweigh its injuries. The worries that fill the mind of every thoughtful man at the present moment spring not so much from what is as from what may be. The rate of growth in government function that we have known during the past dozen years has been so rapid that no one can plan upon the future. We believe that the rate should be slowed down until we can see where we are and where we want to go. A temporary slowing down may not seem attractive to super-active intelligence, but to us there seems as much peril in dizziness as in inertia. Your acceptance address makes it clear that in your judgment neither extreme is necessary.

Similarly we endorse your position on taxation. We feel that the piling of mass on mass in our national debt will make a weight of debt that we can never pay. This apprehension will eventually, in one form or another, lead to repudiation. Repudiation would surely bring intense and widespread suffering and, as has been shown in other countries, might bring a devastating revolution. We have seen two kinds of revolution in Europe during the past quarter century, and we want neither. Even if Mr. Roosevelt were exactly fulfilling our faith of 1932 and 1936 in every way, we would not favor selecting him for a third term. It is one of the implications of democracy that we not indefinitely depend upon any one man. We do not believe in the "trust Papa" theory of government. That theory has captured the imagination of the world, and we think to its detriment. That is why in this particular time we do not want the faintest simulacrum of it here. It would not disturb us if a mayor or a governor were given many terms, but we believe strongly that in the nation's most conspicuous and powerful office it is well to symbolize democracy's tenet scandalously illustrated the startling dangers of political power too long retained.

No Fear of Policies

We are not joining you in this campaign, sir, simply because we are tired of sustaining an humanitarian outlook on American life. If we thought that Republican leadership would return us to an era of dog-eat-dog economy, naturally we would not support it. Nor would it have been possible for us to support you had you failed to take a strong position on foreign policy and selective military service.

Having available what seems to us a safer and better balanced horse we do not fear changing horses in the middle of a stream. We need a leader now who will give a large part of his efforts to the very difficult task of consolidating the gains we have made and—to mix metaphors of healing the wounds which the stampeade has left among us.

In writing you we speak, of course, for ourselves and not for the institutions we have the honor to serve. Some of our respective colleagues will agree with what has been said here and some will disagree. An American college has a corporate judgement on only a very few questions. It is a place where men dispute, however gently and courteously. That is why it is a safe place for students, who among opposing doctrines have an opportunity to make up their own minds.

Cordially yours,
Dixon Ryan Fox,
President, Union College
W. H. Cowley,
President, Hamilton College.

lation that would cover these cases.

Result of Testimony

Both senators spoke as a result of testimony here this week by Carl B. Tuttle, Detroit store system executive, that he had raised $8,926 to aid the campaign of Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential candidate, by a letter to Fellow S. S. Kresge and Company executives in Michigan.

A transcript of the closed committee inquiry revealed that Senator Reed, after noting that he was a Republican and small businessman, told Tuttle that "it was extremely bad taste for the Kresge organization to do what you did."

Reed said that whenever an employer makes a request of an employee "it isn't just the same thing as though some outside party made the same request."

While absolving the Detroit business executive of coercive intentions, Senator Reed said an appeal by an employer for political contributions "opens a way that I think is not consistent with our ideas of a free electorate and it ought not to be done."

Tuttle, the committee record disclosed, said that he had spent 41 years with the store system and "I have never coerced anyone yet, I have never been coerced, and certainly I have never sandbagged anyone."

Willkie Makes Plans for South

September 16 and ending in Detroit September 30.

Willkie pointed to a red-penciled map over which he and Martin had been poring, and explained that the tour would include seven principal speeches and about 25 informal talks.

Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Detroit and an Iowa community will be the sites for the formal addresses. The Detroit speech will be to the National Federation of Republican Women's Clubs.

States on Itinerary

Leaving Rushville, Ind., on September 14, Willkie will visit Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Michigan. A short journey into Minnesota also may be arranged, but no dates and places for the entire trip have yet been set officially.

In October, Willkie probably will campaign through the east. He said that the western tour would make it impossible for him to visit the national convention of the American Legion at Boston September 24 and the New York Republican Convention in White Plains the next day.

Besides his swing into Oklahoma and Texas, the nominee may go into other southern states—perhaps Virginia and North Carolina. In determining action to be taken in the south by the Independent Democratic Organization, officials are considering whether state election laws would make it possible to count votes for Willkie under both the Republican column and some such ticket as "national unity."

First Since Acceptance

Another point regarding the president was that the addresses he has scheduled will be his first since his speech accepting the Democratic nomination for president for a third term.

Plans for the president's trip, as announced by the white house yesterday indicated that the major address would be delivered when he dedicates TVA's Chickamauga Dam on Labor Day.

This speech, the announcement stated, will be followed by another that afternoon at Newfound Gap, on the Tennessee-North Carolina border, at ceremonies formally opening the great Smoky Mountains National Park.

The talks were described officially as "non-political."

Mr. Roosevelt plans to leave the capital next Tuesday for about eight days. He will go to Hyde Park, N. Y., for a stay of about five days and then go directly to Chattanooga, Tenn., site of the dam, by train. After visiting the park, he will go to South Charleston, W. Va., to inspect the naval armor and gun plates before returning to Washington.

B. P. W. Begins Work in Streets

Hasbrouck, Clinton Aves.
and John St. Listed

Work of retreading Hasbrouck avenue, between East Chester and Prince street, was started yesterday by the Board of Public Works. The board has also started the work of placing the new top on John street, between Clinton avenue and Fair street, and expect to have the work completed next Monday.

While the public works board is busy on John street and Hasbrouck avenue, the WPA on Thursday started the work of rebuilding Downs street, and the big shovel was placed at work tearing up the old pavement on Thursday, commencing at Broadway, and working as far as Belvedere street.

Clinton avenue is also being rebuilt as a local WPA project and a new pavement has been laid in the street from Greenkill avenue to Maiden Lane and the block between Maiden Lane and Albany avenue is now under construction and will shortly be completed.

The WPA on Thursday also started work in two of the city parks.

For work and play in modern schools, eye comfort lighting starts young eyes right, when they are just beginning their life-long service. At the New York Military Academy, Cornwall, a new system of indirect illumination has been installed in study hall and library. Good light for seeing is provided by plastic ceiling fixtures—twenty foot-candles, without glare, on desks and tables. The new lighting has proved popular with cadets and faculty members.

Treasurer's Office Gets New Counter

Bureau Improvement Will End Confusion

An improvement at the county treasurer's office was the installation Thursday of a handsome desk extending the entire front of the office near the entrance.

The counter is equipped at the rear with ample closet and shelf space, which accommodates stationery and other material formerly in cases and cabinets which have been removed, giving additional room and making the material easier to access.

The large table which formerly served as a rear room where lawyers and others desiring to make charges can use it without being interrupted.

The change will do away with much of the confusion and congestion that has at times made transaction of business in the office difficult. It will facilitate dealings with those who wish to make payment of tax arrears and who have occasion to call upon the county treasurer in considerable numbers, especially at certain seasons of the year.

The counter, of quartered oak, is a nice piece of workmanship and was built by Walter J. Weeks, of 74 Furnace street.

Vichy, France, (AP)—The first supply of the French "National" shoe will go on sale at the end of this month. It will be a standard shoe, manufactured in eight styles, and will be the only one permitted on the market. The purpose is to cut down manufacturing costs, reduce retail prices and speed up production. A huge supply of shoes and civilian clothes are needed urgently for soldiers being demobilized by the millions.

Actor Scores Hit As 'Dr. Haggett' In Howard Play

Woodstock, Aug. 23—Work by Houston Richards as Dr. Haggett in the Sidney Howard play, "The Late Christopher Bean," which opened last night at the Woodstock Playhouse, was considered the best this season by many of those who have seen every offering at the local theatre. The play continues through to Sunday night.

About everything needed is thrown into the part by this finished actor and his performance will stand out among the things to be remembered when this season ends.

Most of the others in the cast also were at their best and the play generally was one of the most pleasing since the opening of the playhouse.

Constance Clark did fine work as Mrs. Haggett, Donna Earl as convincing as Abby, the maid, and Peter Adams as Warren Cramer, house painter with an eye for art.

Every little gesture, mannerism and vocal effort of Mr. Richards added to the realism of his part and this general atmosphere was helped along a great deal by the work of the others.

The comedy was not as fast-moving and side-splitting as in other similar plays this season but the laughs turned in by Mr. Richards as the serious-minded country doctor were the kind that makes a play.

The action deals with the sudden recognition given the works of Artist Christopher Bean after his death. His works which were considered trash by the Haggetts, suddenly turn into potential wealth for the doctor and his family and the plot moves along excitedly as they learn of their chances to get rich.

"Skylark" by Samson Raphaelson is the play for next week. It will open next Thursday night and continue through to Labor Day.

Washington, (AP)—The government has asked the supreme court to review two decisions involving alleged excess profits on world war shipbuilding as a matter of "immediate national concern."

The cases, involving the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, were filed in 1925 and 1936. In one, the company sued the government for 7,500,000 profits not paid to it, while in the other the government sued the corporation for recovery of allegedly excessive profits already paid. About $13,365,000 is involved in the suits. The government lost both in district court and is appealing from a decision of the third circuit court of appeals which upheld the lower court.

Barn Clearance Recalls Old-Time Winter Days

Days at the turn of the century when the city's water department used horses and sleighs in the winter months were recalled this morning when employees of the public works board began clearing out the attic of the former water board barn adjoining the city hall property.

The attic was cleaned out to afford more room for the surplus food commodities of the welfare department, which will now use the entire three floors of the former barn.

Loaded onto the big truck were two bob sleighs and a cutter, in addition to a number of old chairs and lumber that had been used in years long past.

Convoy Escapes German Land Batteries

This dramatic cablephoto sent from London to New York shows part of a mile-long convoy of British ships which was bombarded by big German guns along the French channel coastline as the ships steamed through the channel headed for British ports, according to the British censor-approved caption. Two shells have just fallen near the ships. The shelling was the first extensive Nazi attack on British convoys from land batteries. Black streaks across the water, both in the foreground and background, were described as cloud shadows.

ITALIANS PLANT FLAG ATOP FORT

Italian soldiers plant their banners atop Fort Jirch, the German censor-approved caption on this picture sent by radio from Berlin to New York said. The action took place when Fascist troops took control during the advance on Berbera, Somaliland port on the Gulf of Aden. British forces evacuated the colony under attack by an overwhelming Italian force, the British said.

iously hamper the defense program because equipment was now being gathered for the additional man power.

Asking the pardon of women reporters present, the President said it was nice to be able to order special B. V. D.'s, but that it did not make much difference whether underwear was obtained by special order or whether the army went into a regular haberdashery store to buy it. There was plenty of such clothing in the United States, he added, and said a similar situation existed with relation to shoes, since there were plenty of good marching shoes in the stores.

Mr. Roosevelt said there also were plenty of rifles in reserve to drill the new men.

Again emphasizing the need for quick action, the President said there were many things in modern warfare that civilians do not realize. He told the reporters present they would not be any good at certain technical trades.

Portable Radios

For instance he said the new men would have to learn to use "walkie-talkies," portable radios carried on the soldier's back. With these, he said a man would be able to talk with officers in command of neighboring regiments and battalions maybe a half mile away.

The President then mentioned airplane detectors and said it required a lot of training to operate them.

Continuing to read from Stimson's report, Mr. Roosevelt said that all these new instruments open up a new line for troops and it was necessary to have trained personnel. There was need for co-operation between air and ground troops, he said, adding that this program was only rudimentary now.

Stimson went on to say that there was no use training ten men when 1,000 were needed and a successful team could not be obtained until men were hardened for the job.

Asked about published reports that Nazi refueling bases had been discovered in the Caribbean area, the President said they were being checked. He added the investigation perhaps would disclose something and perhaps not. Similar reports had been checked in the past, he said, and turned out to be figments of the imagination.

Fast Harness Racing At Dutchess County Fair

The closing of entries on the three stake races at this year's Dutchess County Fair at Rhinebeck, show that 19 horses have been entered in the three-year old trot; 19 horses have been entered in the two-year old trot; eight have been entered in the Springbrook Club race.

Frank H. Cookingham, race secretary, announces that because of the large fields entered in stake races where entries have closed, he expects the stabling facilities to be taxed to the utmost. For the first time in the history of the Dutchess County Fair a barrier will be used in the starting of all events so as to eliminate scoring which has heretofore been the main criticism of harness racing. Harness races will be held on the afternoons of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 28, 29 and 30.

Six Gunmen Miss $100,000 Letters in Mail Train Theft

ance was contained in the stolen pouch, they said.
The robbers swooped down on the train—a New York Central railroad local bound for Albany—as it halted about 2 a. m. (E. S. T.) at the Marble Hill station at 225th street.

As the train stopped, three shadowy figures appeared at the head-end. One quickly stretched a cleated plank from an embankment to the ledge of the mail-car door.

They ran quickly down the plank into the car, following their leader who menaced the two postal clerks with a rifle and ordered, "give us the Yonkers pouch." The clerks refused. Hurriedly, the two remaining bandits, one with his face hidden behind a black mask, the other's features obscured by a blue handkerchief, inspected the sacks, then chose one, saying "here it is—this is what we want." They jumped from the car.

Meantime, from the rear of the train, three other bandits advanced on the conductor and brakemen.
"Get back into that car and turn around," one ordered. At gun point, Joseph Wagman, the conductor, was ordered to give the "go ahead" signal. Wagman pulled the cord once.

"Give it, another yank," growled the signal-wise bandit. Wagman obeyed.

The six bandits then fled past the dark, locked station, stepped into a waiting automobile and sped away. A passenger said the car bore New Jersey license plates.

A thousand yards from the station the train was halted and police were summoned. They found a pistol and a revolver alongside the tracks at the point where the holdup occurred.

Vichy, France (AP)—The heroic conduct of 11 French generals, seven of whom were killed in the war with Germany, was set forth today in the first official account of what has become of France's high ranking officers. It said the errors of some commanders were offset by the bravery of other generals, more of whom were killed or wounded at their posts than during the World War.

Naval Officer Addresses Kiwanis Tells Practices of Savage Head-Hunting Tribes

Members of Kingston Kiwanis heard an unusually interesting talk at their luncheon meeting Thursday, when Lieut. (j.g.) George S. Robinson (C.E.C.) U. S. Navy told of the life and activities of the Ifugaes, head-hunting tribe of the Island of Luzon, Philippine Islands.

Lieut. Robinson, who has been located at Cavite, Philippines, for the past two years recently was transferred to the Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard. He is at present with his wife on a visit at the home of Mrs. Robinson's mother, Mrs. Anna E. Searle, 26 Mountain View avenue.

The speaker told of a visit to the homes of the head hunters, which are built on posts and resemble a corn-crib as much as anything. Chief decorations are the heads of human beings interspersed with those of water buffaloes. He said that the natives still go out on forays for the capture of heads, various signs being consulted beforehand in order to make sure that it is an auspicious time.

Lieut. Robinson gave some description of religious customs, with something like 1,000 gods being worshipped, social life and agricultural methods. The latter is concerned chiefly with raising of rice, which is grown on the side of steep mountains, under extreme difficulty and with most primitive tools. He said that there are some 12,000 miles of stone walls, erected to hold the terraces along the mountain side and some of them dating back before the time of Christ.

Boys and girls are kept in separate dormitories until they marry. Divorce is accomplished by giving back wedding presents. This presents difficulties on the part of the very poor, where the presents consisted perhaps of a couple of chickens.

The head hunters are left pretty much alone, do not receive missionaries and will bear watching at all times. Their principal weapon is a vicious blade knife with which they punch a hole in their victims' skulls and then use to cut off their heads.

I GAVE MY CAR A COLE
MOBILUBRICATION and FOUND...
That—no need to worry about my car any more. I discovered that Cole's went over my car from stem to stern and did everything possible to make it ship-shape. After a COLE MOBILUBRICATION I don't have to worry for at least 1,000 miles.
